

Fair Access Research

Fair Access Briefing: Two

Working with Students' Unions

Students' Unions are a key stakeholder in the research process.

They can help to identify and engage with students.

They can also help to disseminate research findings.

Working with them can be a valuable experience.

It can help to build relationships and trust.

It can also help to ensure that research is relevant.

And it can help to make a positive impact on the student experience.

So, if you're looking for ways to improve your research, consider working with students' unions.

It's a win-win for everyone involved.

For more information, visit www.fairaccessresearch.org.

Thank you for your interest in Fair Access Research.

We look forward to working with you in the future.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. [Name]

[Title]

[Institution]

[Address]

[Phone Number]

[Email Address]

Meet the team:

D H D C H

Jane de Vekey

J B

I .I

,J

Students' Unions:

J H

E B .H

F F A

E L :

www1.bournemouth.ac.uk/about/centre-excellence-learning/our-research/fair-access

Why working with Students' Unions matters

F A

A

21

Working with Students' Unions matters because working with students matters.

Case study:

F A

B

K

M

I M

Why this matters to you:

F

EF

F

What could you do?

M

